

APRIL 23 - MAY 16, 2020

Remake Learning Days—DMV is a new regional festival celebrating learning experiences and approaches that support the development of creativity, perseverance, and curiosity in our youth.

As part of the larger Remake Learning Days Across America initiative — which began in Pittsburgh, PA, and is newly expanded to 15 regions nationwide — Remake Learning Days-DMV provides a unique opportunity to showcase innovative learning practices throughout our region.

Remake Learning Days-DMV events will allow youth across all ages (from pre-K through Grade 12) along with parents, caregivers, and educators, to explore hands-on, relevant, and engaging educational experiences. The majority of events will be free and open to the public.

REMAKE LEARNING DAYS-DMV OBJECTIVES:

- Showcase how our region is leading the way to “remake” education to fit the needs of 21st century learners
- Demonstrate the value of creative, hands-on learning and make families aware of where to find these opportunities year-round
- Generate support for relevant, engaging, and equitable learning in schools and other educational spaces

WHY PARTICIPATE? Be a part of Remake Learning Days-DMV — and join the national conversation on the future of innovation in education. Hosting an event is an opportunity to build community, learn from peers, and expand local and national awareness. Plus host organizations can take advantage of promotional resources, including both online and print marketing support.

WHO CAN HOST AN EVENT? Any nonprofit or for-profit organization — including, but not limited to, schools, libraries, museums, arts spaces, tech companies, makerspaces, parks, and community centers — is invited to host an event.

Events do not need to be created expressly for Remake Learning Days-DMV. Already existing events qualify as long as they promote creative, hands-on learning, fall within the festival dates, and support one or more of the following learning themes: arts, maker, outdoor learning, science, technology, youth voice, and/or professional development.

HOW TO REGISTER:

To submit your event, complete this online form \(https://remakelearningdays.org/submit-an-event/\). March 1 is the deadline to be included in print marketing, but events can be submitted up to the start of the festival.

Washington International School's Professional Development Collaborative and KID Museum are pleased to serve as the regional organizers for Remake Learning Days-DMV.

Washington International School, DC, is a coeducational, independent school from preschool to grade 12. The Professional Development Collaborative at WIS serves as a resource for educators throughout the DC region.
